en Winning-Brooklyn Again Defeats Cis-cinnati — Washington Win Again from Cleveland—Philadelphina Lose to Chicago.

The New Yorks played a draw with the Pittsburgs yesterday, and the gap between Joyce's men and second place was widened. The Bostons pulled out of a hole in the game with St. Louis, and the Baltimores won because Umpire Kelly decared the game forfeited when the Louisvilles refused to abide by his decision. As there is no chance to play yesterday's game off, the New Yorks have sixteen games to play, three each with Boston and Baltimore. In order to overtake Boston they must win all of the re-ma ning games, while the Hub team must lose six out of fifteen games. To overhaul Baltimore the locals must win every game they play, while the champions drop eight out of nineteen. Neither incident is probable. Brooklyn wor easily from the Cincinnatis yesterday, and the Washingtons took their fourth straight game from the Clevelands, who are rapidly losing their grip on fifth place. Chicago defeated Philadelphia and managed to keep at the head of the second division. The results: New York, 2; Pittsburg, 2.

The excessive heat affected the New York a Pitteburg players at the Polo Grounds yesterd As a result they played a slow, uninterestingame, although it finally ended in a draw. T men moved about as if afflicted with a feeling weariness, and when the battle ended they w glad to get under their shower baths.

It was a pitchers' battle, both Hastings and Mike Sullivan being in rare form. The scoring of each team was confined to a single inning hits—Werden and all of the four runs were earned. A little headwork in wielding their bats with men on bases might have brought a victory to Joyce's men, but the men seemed unable to show their usual ability to hit the ball at the right time. The Bostons and Baltimores in such tight places as the New Yorks were placed in yesterday would have turned out several runs by scientific would have turned out several runs by scientific bunting, coupled with skilful base running. But that is another story.

The Pittsturgs got five hits off Sullivan, four of which were bunched in the second inning for their two runs. The big fellow was in fine form and had almost perfect control. He really outpitched Hastings, and it was too bad that his efforts were not crowned with success. In Glesson's absence second base was covered by Charley Gettig, who fielded nicely and saved the game with a two-base h t.

The New Yorks tied the score in the fifth, but they might have won it then and there. With one out Tiernan rapped a two-bagger to left, and Capt. Joyce put him on third with a short single to centre. Without first attempting to steal second cleanly, which he could have done with a man on third, Joyce gave the cue to Davis to hit the first ball pitched. As a consequence Joyce was forced and Tiernan scored. With Joyce on second, and Davis taking his time with Hastings, there might have been a different result. As it was, Davis took second on a wild pitch and tied the score on Gettig's clean double to left. The latter was left, however, by McCreery, who has taken a tumble in his sitck work.

ever, by McCreery, who has taken a tumble in his stick work.

In the seventh Van Haltren began with a single and stole second. Nobody was out, and it looked like a fine chance for runs with the big hitters up. But Tiernan filed to Smith, Joyce popped one to Hoffmeister, and Davis grounded to Padden. Gettig opened the next Inning with a hit and McCreery sacrificed. Clark fouled out to the catcher and Warner grounded to Padden. All of which showed anything but scientific betting and at the same time good pitching by Hastings.

Up to the eighth inning the e was absolutely no kicking. When Umpire O'Day called a fourth ball on Hastings, however—and his decision w s good, too—Catcher Warner threw down his mask in disgust, which was a silent kick that the ball should have been called a strike. Capt. Joyce immediately left his position at third base and proceeded to wrangle with the umpire in the middle of the diamond until the latter had to threaten to put him out of the game.

Just then Rothfuss sent a single to right.

McCreery made a superb throw to Joyce, and
Hastings was cought at third base.

You're out!' oxclaimed the umpire, who say

Hastings was cought at third base.

"You're out!" oxclaimed the umpire, who saw the play correctly, what a steal!" yelled the Pittsburg players.

"We'b at!! Oh, what a steal!" yelled the Pittsburg players.

"Wo'd der yer mean, anyway?" roared Donovan and the tough-looking Padden.

O'D-y was firm, but he did not fine anybody. Then came another play and a kick. Fadden hit to Davis, who started to toos the ball to Gettig in order to force Rothfuss. Gettig was slow in covering the bag, and when he finally got the ball both teams began to bawl "Sate!" and "Out!" O'Day sais!" Out!" Again the Pittsburgs acted like prize fighters who preferred talking to actual ring experience. O'Day backed away from the kickers and ordered the teams to play ball. Smith retired the side with a grounder, whereupon O'Day found himself in an odd predictionent. As Joyce came in from third he paid his respects to the umpire in a manner that denoted anger. His words were cut short by a roar from Donovan, the Pittsburg captain, who was on his way from the coaching line to the bench. Both captains continued to kick until O'Day, who seemed thoroughly disgusted, shut them up. The store:

Even with the great Breitenstein in the box the Cincinnatis went down before the Brooklyns yest rday. Luck smiled upon the home players in the early innings, several runs being scored on scratch hits, but the southpaw was a target in the seventh and eighth innings, when Harnie's players earned five runs. McPhee hurthis finger while practicing and lay off, but he wasn't missed, as littchic caught everything that came his way and also touched up Fisher for two bits. Alex. Smith covered himself with glory. The New York boy pulled down six flies and welded the bat to the extent of four hits, of which one was a two-bagger. While the game was in progress Umpire Lynch ran over to the picket fence at the right field bleacheries and threatened to have several of the noisy spectators removed unless they improved in their behavior. A boilceman stationed at that part of the ground was appealed to, and he kept Lynch's tormentors in order during the remainder of the game. The score:

BALTIMORE, Bept. 10,—To-day's game was full of excitement from start to fin sh, and it took two hours and twenty-five minutes to pray seven innings. The players of both teams each took turns at kicking with Umpire Kelley almost on every dec sion he made. In the second inning Dextor was ordered from the game for questioning him on balls and strikes. The Coloneis tied the score in their hair of the seventh. With two men out and the bases fillet. Keeler chopped a slow one to Stafford, and was declared safe at first by Kelley, and Quinn scored. The Louisville players became energed at the decision and crowded sround Kelley and refused to play, whereupon he forfeited the game to Baltimore. During the game Fred Clarke, Joe Kelley, Wilson, and McGee were each fixed $25. The score:

Brooklyns Outplay the Louisvilles, but Lose the Series. To break even with Joyce's men and then capcities. To break even with Joyce's men and then cap-ture the series from the Brooklyna is a record that the Kentuckians may point to with pride. While the Brooklyna could with only two of the six games played at Eastern Park, they Irake even on the Louisville grounds. Two erroriess games were played by the Louisvilles, but at that their fielding average is 20 points less than the Brooklyns, who also outbatted the Kentucky players. The complete record follows:

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 10.-Though to-day was the hottest of the year, a fair number of com-petitors played for the women's challenge and handicap cups over the "Red Course." For the third time Miss Godfrey won both cups, the challenge with a gross score of 94 and a not of 86. Her play has improved lately. She drives fairly, and her approach shots and putting are of a high order. In addition to this, her nerve is such that her best cores are minds in competition. The scores to-day follow:

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 10.-The finals in he contest for the Ambassador's cup were played to-day on the Lenox links. The match attracted a large crowd, fully 200 being on the links when play began. The finals were between David W. Bishop, Jr., of Lenox, and W. A. Taylor of New York. Taylor had a handicap of 2. Bishop outdrove Taylor, who had the advantage on the putting green. As soon as the match was over a cablegram was sent to Baron Thielmann, late German Ambassador, the donor of the cup, liforning him of the victory. Taylor won the toss and led off with a long drive of nearly 200 yards. Bishop drove well and was on the green in 4 and made the hole in 5. Going to the second hole, both men holed in 4. Most of their spare time is spent in practicing over the unfamiliar links and accustoming themselves to their spare time is spent in practicing over the unfamiliar links and accustoming themselves to the location of the holes and varying distances between them. The nature and frequency of the bunkers are also carefully noted. Among those who have already appeared upon the ground are: J. D. Thorp, John N. Harrison, Findlay Douglas, Bob McAndrews, James A. Tyng, W. M. McCauley, and E. I. Frost, The entire field of fity-eight men entered is expected in time for some of the special events to be run off to-morrow afternoon. One of the interesting matches played yesterday in practice was between Findlay Douglas and Bob McAndrews. The latter defeated the amateur by 3 up and 1 to play, taking 85 strokes for the round to Douglas 87. In the afternoon Douglas was out from the same opponent with 3 up and 2 to play. Douglas is looked upon as one of the stroncest candidates for the amateurchampionship honors. He has all the grace of a St. Andrew's player, and his work in theopen green is magnificent. His drives are beautifully managed and his work generally clean. He said yesterday that for the first time in this country he was enabled to use his wooden putter, the extent of the course enabling him to bring the stick successfully into pay. There is some absund talk about boyouting Douglas on the ground that he is not an amateur, and it is said tha he has been snubbed by other players at Wheaton since his arrival; but he is not wor ied about the attacks on his record, which is undombtedly as clean as that of any one entered for the tournament.

"According to the accounts of the fight," said

"According to the accounts of the fight," said McCoy to The Sun reporter last night, "I was getting licked. Well, that's all rubbish. The boot was on the other leg. I was doing him when they showed the arm of the law."

"Hyan says that you would have been defeated in the next round had the mill continued?"

"Pshaw!" snapped McCoy, with a significant shrug of his shoulders. "I was only kidding him. He was already puffing and winded and it was only a question of time when I would smash him on the law and quiet him. Him. it's all over now, and, to show how much be thinks of me, why, he refuses to fight me again."

McCoy says he has posten $1.000 to fight Dan Creeton, and that the inil is as good as arranxed. He will go to Dayton in a week, where he intends to open a saloon.
